2. Reasons for the Amendments

The forecasts of Fiscal year 2009 semi-annual and annual net revenues are expected to increase from the previously announced forecasts, due to sales increases in number of units and changes in sales mix. However, in spite of such expected increases in revenues, the operating income, the ordinary income and the net income are expected to be as announced previously, due to the increases in energy and raw material prices.

[Note]

The forecasts stated above are based upon information that is currently in the Company's possession. The forecasts stated above are not guarantees of future performance and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause actual results, performance, achievements or financial to be materially different from the forecasts expressed or implied in this notice.

3. Reasons for the Amendments

Among the figures for consolidated and non-consolidated business performance for Fiscal Year 2009, net revenues and the profits are projected to fall below the previously announced projected figures, due to factors such as the decrease in the number of automobiles subcontracted for production by Toyota Motor Corporation to the Company, the decrease in the number of automobiles sold in Japan, as well as the trend of stronger yen in the currency exchange market and the impact of rising raw material prices.

(Note) The prospective figures for the business performance stated above are based upon information that is currently in the Company's possession and upon certain premises that the Company deems reasonable. The Company's actual future performance or other similar results could differ materially from those discussed above, due to various factors.
